

BARON

The Baron bellowed once:

While off in the wood, the scumbrood stood,
Their burrows near, they quailed with fear,
When the Baron bellowed once.

The Baron bellowed twice:

And the herald's voices, squeaked silly noises,
In their tabards green, they split the scene,
When the Baron bellowed twice.

The Baron bellowed thrice:

A chipmunk amorous, tried to play glamorous,
The fish in the lake, were aye on the make,
The Earl Marshal bold, e'en he turned cold,
The autocrat painted, his tombstone and fainted,
The chirurgeon's dog, up and pee'd on a log,
The twits turned red, and nearly dropped dead,
And Kimi in fright, ran shrieking to her knight,
Shark on the prowl, with a falsetto howl,
Tried to save all the wenches,
hid them under the benches,
The tent pegs bent, got up and went,
The newlyweds happy, exited snappy,
The priest turned grey, sang "Jesu Domine",
When the Baron bellowed thrice.

© Elmar T. Schmeisser, 2003